

The Archaeological Institute of America Toronto Society and the UofT Archaeology Centre present an illustrated lecture:

“Trade, Travel and Ceremony”

By William A. Fox, Anthropology Trent University

Tuesday February 28, 2017 at 6:00 pm

Location: Anthropology Building AP130 19 Russell Street, Univ of Toronto

The archaeological record of the Great Lakes Region, spanning some 12,000 years, includes tantalizing pieces of evidence concerning long distance contact between Indigenous peoples. A variety of social mechanisms have been proposed to explain the evidence, ranging from individual agency to corporate international relations and from down the line exchange to long distance travel. Evidence specific to particular time periods will be presented and the various explanatory paradigms discussed.

Free lecture, all welcome. For more information see www.aiatoronto.ca

Twitter: @torontoAIA Facebook: AIA-Toronto Society

The Archaeological Institute of America Toronto Society and the UofT Archaeology Centre present an illustrated lecture:

Free lecture, all welcome. For more information see www.aiatoronto.ca